MADRID, June 4 .- (AP)-An Insurgent artillery bombardment today killed at least 20 and wounded 60 in downtown Madrid.

Rejoicing over the death yesterday of Insurgent General Emilio Madrilanos thronged the streets at the usually safe hour be-tween 11 and 12, when the shells began to fall.

One of the city's biggest hotels was the scene of the day's most gruesome bloodshed. Rushing in panic to the hotel hallway when the shelling started, people were scattered again by a bursting snell which killed a woman and three men and injured many others.

Local Option Plan Hit By Ex-Road Board Head

Local option is "not workable" and has proved a failure in every state, county and com-munity that had it, J. J. Mangham, of Bremen, former chairman of the state highway board, declared in a speech here last night.
"If we've just got to have legal liquor, there are many who believe that a plan similar to the Washington state liquor law is much preferable to the one proposed by the 'liquor control' crowd and the present administration," he said.

"I will admit that the present law does not entirely prohibit. Neither do any of the other restrictive laws entirely prohibit. But it does help, and if it were not for the easy money in the liquor business there would be practically no violations."

ATLANTA, GA., JUNE 5, 1937.

NATIONAL ATTACK ON NATURAL FOES The proposal by President Roosevelt that seven new regional authorities be formed to combat those natural forces which, if unchecked, threaten the God-given wealth of the nation, should win favorable response from

His message of Thursday makes plain the purpose of the plan suggested is to co-operate with state and local authorities, in each of the regions outlined, in mapping the wisest strategy for the long struggle ahead if floods, soil erosion, dust storms and deforestation are not to rob the nation of its natural resources and turn the great areas of the midwest into a new Gobi desert.

The National Planning Board, soon to be established, would act as a central clearing office for co-ordinating on national scale the projects initiated by the regional groups and the local authorities within their areas. The national board would have no executive authority, but would advise for the proper linking of the various plans, thus preventing overlapping and possible clashing of aims.

The President in his suggestion reveals a well-thought-out and comprehensive view of the problems of today and of the future. With the ever-growing scope of flood disasters in the Mississippi basin and other watersheds and with the complete ruin of large areas in the "dust bowl" sections of the midwest, it is imperative that the nation formulate a long-time campaign if her fields and rivers and forests, her green hills and fertile valleys, are not to disappear and leave in their place arid deserts and unproductive flooded areas.

For many years the War Department has found it necessary, for proper planning of the defensive army of the nation, to divide the country into corps areas for administrative

It is a similar plan the President proposes in the inevitable fight that must be waged against an invading enemy which threatens national catastrophe far beyond any injury that a human foe could inflict.

A NEW DAY FOR PETERS STREET

All Atlanta will rejoice with Peters street in the new day of prosperity and enhanced commercial importance which merchants of that thoroughfare foresee with the coming of trackless trolleys.

There is no street in all the city which boasts a more interesting history than Peters street. It was one of the earliest trade arteries of the young city three-quarters of a century ago. Before the days of the automobile, thousands of Georgians, coming to Atlanta to trade. knew no other business artery.

It is today a wide and handsome thoroughfare. Unfortunately, that very fact has tended to the disadvantage of the street. It has of late been used largely as a speedy channel for through automobile traffic, with the result it has had more than its share of traffic acci-

With the coming of the trackless trolleys and the inclusion of Peters street in their routing, Atlantans and visitors will be given a new means of transportation, not merely through Peters street, but to it.

Certainly, the Peters Street Merchants' Club will have the heartiest backing of the whole city in the projects it proposes for a rejuvenation of the section.

MILLICAN PARK

The city and county together are to buy and develop a new recreation center for children in the Capitol View section. The six-acre tract is located to the rear of the Capitol View school on Stewart avenue, and the park will be named in memory of the late Mrs. Emma Millican, mother of Senator G. Everett Millican, who has been a resident of that section for many years.

Creation of this area where the children of Capitol View can center their recreation activities will meet a need that has long been unfilled. There is now no place where those youngsters can find facilities for organized play, recognized as vital to the proper derelopment of the growing child.

Plans for the park contemplate four tennis courts, a baseball diamond and playgrounds for its younger patrons. Inasmuch as the total price for acquisition of the land and equipment of the park is only $3,000, the proposal bears every earmark of being a merited investment for the future health, happiness and good citizenship of the young people of Capitol View.

THE COUNTY ACTS PROMPTLY

The county finance committee has agreed to allocate one-third of the $19,000 cost for a comprehensive survey of city and county government, as proposed by businessmen of the city. The business group, operating through the Chamber of Commerce, has already agreed to defray one-third of the cost.

All that now remains is for the city to agree to furnish the remaining one-third. The businessmen proponents of the survey, headed by W. Eugene Harrington, president of the Chamber of Commerce, will submit the matter to city council on Monday.

The prompt approval accorded the proposal by the county is in full accord with the sentiment of citizens generally. Dr. Thomas M. Reed, who is suggested to make the investigation, is internationally recognized as the outstanding expert on government operations. A survey made by Dr. Reed would command fullest confidence, both by officials and citizens.

The proposal of the business leaders is based upon the desire to make Atlanta one of the best government cities of the nation. If the affairs of the two local governments are being conducted in the most modern, efficient and economical manner, it will be well to know it. If improvements can be made to the advantage of the taxpayers, the cost of the survey will be returned quickly, many times over.

IT MIGHT BE A GOOD TRADE

The tentative proposal, by unannounced bidders, to buy the Atlanta city hall contains the possibilities of a good trade for the city. Always provided, of course, that the price offered is commensurate with the value of the city's investment.

Should the bid prove acceptable it is understood the city would build a new city hall on the site of the old city hall at the corner of Marietta and Forsyth streets.

The advantages in the proposal are several. In the first place, it would give to Atlanta another large and desirable building. It would provide jobs for many workers in the different branches of the construction industry. It would utilize idle property in the heart of the city and remove a disfiguring scar from a rapidly improving section.

The present city hall, erected some ten years ago, is a magnificent building, a credit to the city. At the same time citizens of some sections of the city have objected to its location.

There is no contemplation, of course, of any sale of the present building at a price which would cause the city financial loss. The contract made, if the deal is finally consummated, must not only bring full value for the property sold, but the new building must be entirely financed from the proceeds of the old.

Otherwise any sale of the comparatively new city hall on Mitchell street is not to be contemplated.

WINGS OVER AMERICA

There is no principal city in the United States today more than 24 hours distant by air from any other. Today anyone may travel from coast to coast overnight, or from border to border, in less than 12 hours.

In 1936 more than a million passengers were transported by air in this country. Ten years ago, when scheduled air lines began carrying passengers, mail and express on regular routes, a scant few thousand availed themselves of travel on man-made wings.

A century ago it took more than six weeks for mail to reach the farthermost point in the country from Chicago. Fifty years ago it took approximately two weeks. Ten years ago it required five days. Today it takes less than 24

Thus the marvels of aviation serve the individual, business and industry. The story of the advance of commercial flying in the United States is one of the most dramatic records of almost miraculous achievement man has yet written.

But it is not only in the ways of peace that America's airways serve. The network of air lines provides a vital factor in national defense. More than 400 high-speed transports operate daily over the networks of the clouds. The commercial air lines have a reserve force of more than 1,000 skilled pilots. They hold ready, for immediate use, a means of highspeed transportation that might easily provide the margin of national life or death in case of attack by any foreign power.

The great mail-carrying ships of the air have become commonplace phenomena of the skies, but they mean much more to the nation than the casual observer of their routine flights

MERGERS OF LOCAL GOVERNMENTS

(From the Tampa Daily Times)
It is strange to find local government consolidation connected with the state of Georgia whose jig-saw puzzle of more than 150 counties is the result of years of bickering and splitting up of sections of the state. Yet every city and county, those in Florida included, could profit from studying the example of three Georgia counties, Fulton (Atlanta), Campbell and Milton, which merged five years ago.

The results, especially in the two smaller counties, include better roads, better schools, better health service and lower taxes. Florida, with only 67 counties, hasn't quite the multiplicity of expensive local governmental units that have burdened Georgia for years, but there are undoubtedly localities which could benefit from the principle of governmental consolidation.

Some day, however, the taxpayers of Florida cities and counties are going to see the waste in having two sets of local government officials, two sets of salaries, two sets of expensive elections and any number of opportunities for passing the buck of public responsibility. Then they will insist on city-county consolidations—at least the consolidation of dual functions.

NEWS BEHIND THE NEWS

By PAUL MALLON.

WEIGHT WASHINGTON, June 4.—The Maverick clan of heavy thinkers dropped a 100-ton idea into the house bill room the other day. Unfortunately, it struck congress with the detonation of an alighting feather. No one has considered it worth

Apparently the only fixed principle of the clan is that the New Deal is tame. In accord with this principle, a bill was introduced proposing to do the job for President Roosevelt in a really big way. The bill would establish a national industrial expension board in federal hands to control industrial production, prices, wages, hours, and just about everything except breathing. It would expand industrial prices by federal edict.

The clan is supposed to speak only for the little group of extremists in the house, but occasionally it acts as buffer for left wing economists in the new order, and, once in a while, for the White

For example, in the recent relief fight, it advocated two billions For example, in the recent relief light, it advocated two billions to offset the conservative Democratic demand for a billion, so that Mr. Roosevelt could get the million and a half he wanted. It was a pre-arranged job. As Agriculture Secretary Wallace has been talking lately about precisely this method, and as President Roosevelt himself has been talking about price controls, the question has arisen as to whether the thinkers are now again doing some heavy advance work for an administration industrial control program. The answer is the bill is the opening of a subtle campaign by left wing economists within the new order to promote some such remedy, but not with the approval of the White House.

Note—Hidden authors of the bill are the Ezekiel crowd of economists in the Agriculture Department.

SOLUTION Behind this matter is the fact that Dr. Moulton of non-partisan Brookings Institution has caused tur-conomists of the new order by suggesting that Mr.

Roosevelt is going in the wrong direction. Moulton's non-political analysis, delivered privately to economists last week, is being made public by Brookings officially. In a sentence, the Moulton theory is that current employment, wages and other ills could be cured by a real industrial expansion, but that wage and hour limitations are "unwittingly" tending toward a lower instead of a higher standard of living. Dr. Moulton did not mention the President's name, but nearly everyone knows who has re-cently proposed minimum wages and maximum hours.

What the Mavericks seem to have done is take the Moulton theory and combine it with the Wallace theory of controlling production to work out as vast a federal control scheme as ever conceived in the mind of man.

No one seems to be advocating the simplest solution: (a) To have the government start patting business on the back, and (b) vigorous enforcement of the anti-trust laws to break monopolies

DIGGING IN PWA Promoter Ickes is ill, but his men did an excellent inside job in promoting some considera-tion for earmarking PWA funds in the relief bill in the house. Mr. Ickes has been in a rundown condition and may be out for time. His associates, however, succeeded in carrying PWA prospects a little further than the White House might have carried them, if left alone. Specifically, the plan now is to grant federal funds to all municipalities which have authorized PWA bond issues for worthwhile projects."

Incidentally, Mr. Ickes also recently acquired an $80,000 estate in Maryland, about 20 miles from Washington, which indicates he does not intend to leave soon.

EXTRATERRITORIALITY
The extent to which the 1940 presidential race has progressed was disclosed here the other day when Governor George Earle, of Pennclosed here the other day when Governor George Earle, of Pennsylvania, addressed the Southern Society. Governor Earle made a speech in which he pointed out that his Pennsylvania home is "only an hour's drive from the Mason-Dixon line." His birthplace in Chester, he said, is even closer. His interlocutor, Senator Reynolds, of North Carolina, in introducing him, mentioned the fact that Earle went south in January, 1916, for a wife" and that he "comes to speak to you with a heart that is warm for the south."

No room was left for doubt that Earle is smoking hot for the south, which will have approximately one-third of the delegates the next Democratic convention.

But the secret of it is a heckler was planted in the back of the hall (a Republican, no doubt) who had intended to ask Governor Earle about signing the so-called equal rights bill, but was so enthralled by the performance, he forgot it.

However, some members of the Southern Society are talking about appointing a subcommittee to measure the actual distance between Earle's home and the line.

STALEMATES Incidents such as this one and the McNutt cocktail edict in the Philippines are strengthening the conviction among unbiased political observers that Mr. Roosevelt could hardly keep himself from being renominated if the convention

My dear Louise: Your plan sounds good, and I have no doubt it would solve your present problem; but have you looked ahead to see what the result will be next month or next year? It isn't smart to escape one mudhole by stepping into another.

The habit of doing things without thought for the future will place you in illustrious company, for our "great" men seem to delight in it, but there are innumerable examples to prove that the final cost is always more than the present gain.

delight in it, but there are innumerable examples to prove that the final cost is always more than the present gain.

Did you ever hear of a place called Heligoland? It's an island in the North sea, once owned by England. English statesmen, who didn't bother their heads about the future, thought it a smart idea to sell the island to Germany.

It would have been a smart deal if the world had moved on without change, but it doesn't behave that way. War came and the statesmen discovered they had placed a knife point at England's throat and given the handle to an enemy.

FOR WAGE EARNERS

They call him a "base line player" because he stays in the ball forever, but it is how he stands, not where he stands, that makes Bryan Grant the greatest tennis player the south has produced. It is the stout-heartedness of his stand, the fury of his imagination to win, the way he flings soul and body after the ball, the infinite carefulness and persistence of him. He sails today for England as one of America's two upon whom hopes of recovering the Davis cup depends, and those who have been championing him for this honor and insisting upon his qualification for it are relieved now of all the charges of sentiment and payment of debts.

The proposal was laid before the house judiciary committee by Valentine J. Nesbit, special federal referee in bankruptcy at Birmingham, Ala, during testimony on the stays and persistence of him. WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE.

Carol Clayton resents her dead father's friend, handsome Duke Bradley, a bookmaker. She is engaged to wealthy Hartley Madison and Duke accuses her of marrying for money. Infuriated, Carol postpones her wedding and starts to play the horses so she can pay him her tather's $75,000 debt. She challenges him to take her bets, although what Duke really wants is Hartley's business—a was that Carol determinedly thwarts. Her luck is phenomenal, but on the racing special to Florida, he warns her that she is heading for a nervous breakdown. Then Duke makes a daring move. He goes to New York and tells Hartley of Carol's condition. This, he knows, will bring him to Florida. Once at the track, Duke knows he will bet. NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

She had to take the hand he offered and she managed to force a smile to her lips. What she wanted to do was throw a chair at him. When he had gone into the living room which adjoined her bedroom, she contented herself with a huge vase, throwing it violently to the floor. She must do something to ease her nerves.

"What's the matter?" crief Hartley, hurrying into the room. "Did you hurt yourself? Are you all right?

"Right as a ratchet, whatever that is," said Carol. "Go on back and hear what that doctor has to tell you." Duke, Rosetta and a chamber maid were in the living room.

"Will we disturb you, if we tune in," said Duke who was turning the knobs on the radio. "Didn't want to leave Madison—Rosetta and I-thought he might need company, but the races are start ing and I have a number of clients on this first race.'

"Go right ahead," answered Madison. "The doctor and I'll talk over in this corner." "Won't disturb Carol, will it?"

asked Duke. "I'll go down to the lobby, if you think it better." "Oh she's all right," said the "Are you sure," asked Madison.

"I never saw her act like this. It doesn't seem natural to me." "It isn't natural-to her or anybody else."

"Then what do you mean by saying she's all right?"

"There's nothing organically wrong with her. Even her nervous system, I'd say, was good. Oh, she's high-strung, of course. But-do you want to know just what's ne matter with her, Hartley?"
"Why did I come here instead

Tide of Metal Promises To Send Nation's Hoard to $12,000,000,000.

NEW YORK, June 4.-(AP)-A stampede of gold out of depression storm cellars abroad kept a tide of metal moving toward New York today, bound for the United States treasury's already bulging vaults.

The return of the prodigal yellow metal from hiding places, where it sought refuge against currency depreciation, promised to send Uncle Sam's unequalled monetary hoard soaring far above $12,000,000,000. It passed that mark this week as incoming ships brought millions of dollars in additional metal released from pri-vate hoards in London and foreign government stores.

Clark Gable reveals himself as an actor of much ability in "Parnell," based on the Broadway stage hit by Elsie T. Schauffler, which opened a week's engagement yesterday at Loew's Grand theater. A powerful picture with plenty of human appeal, "Parnell" presents Gable as the dynamic Irish patriot who, at the height of his power, sacrificed his career for the sake of the woman he loved. Myrna Loy, often seen as a screen wife, is a wife of a different type in this picture, and brings to her role genuine sympathy and understanding. She and Gable made a great team of screen lovers. THE DIZZY DIZZY DEAN CASE.

Anyone getting a hair cut or shave or both in our town yesterday also got a load of the Diz Dean case. And across luncheon tables in our leading cafes the strange case of Diz Dean was the subject.

They may beat old Diz later on but yesterday he won his round with Ford Frick, the National league president. They may rule him off the turf in subsequent decisions. But the swing of public opinion to his side was definite and that may save him.

It seems that Diz Dean was in a church saying what a fine fellow Carl Hubbell was and naming that worthy as the greatest pitcher in the game at the time he w is supposed to have nominated Ford Frick and Umpire Barr as the greatest crooks in

The pastor of the church and some of his deacons came to bat for Ole Diz. All in all, it is the daffiest baseball case we have had to entertain us in some years.

Judge Kennesaw M. Landis may yet deal with Ole Diz and put him away for a while. The Judge is a great hand to unhold what he believes to be the dignity of baseball. He once suspended Babe Ruth on the grounds that no one man was bigger than the game of baseball. This phrase has a fine sound to it and comes ringing down the years. The fact that without the Babe the game was rather dull didn't change things.

So, he may ban Ole Diz. The strange fact is, however, that most of the public sentiment seems to be with the Great Dean. And the fact that he was in church when he got into trouble makes the case all the dizzier.

THE REPORTER'S SIDE OF IT.

In all the noise about the Diz Dean case, there is just one feature that disturbs me.

The preacher and his staff and Ole Diz insist that nothing was said which could be construed as being detrimental to baseball. Yet by patiently going through the copy I find that the reporter who reported the meeting still insists he did not misouote the Great Dean.

It requires a very agile-minded reporter, in this day of to the best interests of baseball "off-the-record" talks, to know just what to print. An experienced reporter can go right along and sort the printable stuff ceived by an enthusiastic gatherrienced reporter can go right along and sort the printable stuff from the non-printable stuff without any trouble. Ford Frick Lifts Suspension on Dean ATLANTARUNS

Enraged Dizzy, Who Pitches Today.

By ALAN GOULD.

NEW YORK, June 4.—(AP)—
Yielding finally to Dizzy Dean's insistence that "I ain't goin' to sign unthin'," President Ford C. Frick, of the National league, today declared an armistice in his personal warfare with the famous pitcher of the St. Louis Cardinals and fixed a three-day limit on his suspension.

Frick lifted the ban he imosed on Wednesday, effective in time to permit Dean to pitch phia tomorrow, the climax of a stormy two-hour battle of words, the second in as many days at National league headquarters.

The league's youthful chief ex-ecutives had to be satisfied, however, only with the pitcher's ver-bal denial that he made any of the derogatory statements which he had been accused of delivering, for publication in the news-

Dean's refutation took the final form of a series of questions, propounded by Frick, and laconic answers by the pitcher. A dozen newspapermen, together with Manager Frankie Frisch and Secretary Clarence Lloyd, of the St. Louis club, signed the steno-graphic report of the proceedings as witnesses, but Dean's auto-graph—the one thing Frick insisted he must have before re-storing Dizzy to good standing—

1,000 TIMES NO.

Dean, replying to five ques tions from Frick, (1) denied he said the league's balk interpretation rule was instituted as a slap at him or that he said it constituted persecution: (2) and (3) enforcement of the rule, in Brook a week before the riotous battle with the Giants at St. Louis, May 19, and again prior to that particular game, Frisch; (4) denied he said at a church dinner in Belleville, Ill. that Ford Frick and Umpire George Barr were the "two big-gest crooks in baseball"; and (5) denied the accuracy of the story, so quoting him, as published by the Belleville Daily Advocate. Dean not only carried his main point of "signin' nuthin'," after two days of bitter haggling, but stood his ground otherwise. To offset Frick's telegram from the editor of the Belleville newspaper, backing up the paper's account of what Dean said, Dizzy produced a wire signed by ninnen, including the minister of the Belleville Presbyterian church

"We deem it our duty to express our opinion that your talk (on May 25) was not detrimental

FAR FROM SUBDUED.

Dean was far from being sub-dued or influenced by heavy pressure to sign a formal retraction, at any stage of the stormy ses-He abruptly walked out at one stage, insisting he was "all washed up" with the business. He soon returned for a final battle of words with the much-harassed Frick, but continued to shout defiance and threats, even when the league executive gave ground and lifted the suspension.

The pitcher, continuing to "pop off," disagreed sharply with Frick's statement the "incident Frick's statement the "incident was closed," insisted he would still carry his protest to Commissioner Landis, and talked loudly about taking his case to "the highest court. Dizzy didn't make clear just what grounds for legal action he might seek, if any, but left the inference he would fight any ef-fort to "dock" his pay check for the three-day period of his sus-pension. Under league rules, a club is compelled to cut off a player's salary for the period of official banishment.

After specifying his acceptance value," and fixing a 24-hour limit for the suspension, which ends at 1 p. m. (eastern standard time) tomorrow, Frick said: THE FUTURE?

"So far as what has gone before, the case is closed. So far as what occurs in the future, time alone can tell. Certainly this of-fice does not intend to have the name of the National league, its through the newspapers in an uncomplimentary manner."

Frick said he would not oppose any attempt by Dean to appeal any part of his case to Commissioner Landis. The league president, in a parting admonition to

Manager Frisch, added: "Now, Frank, keep that big guy quiet, or we will have to go through this all over again."

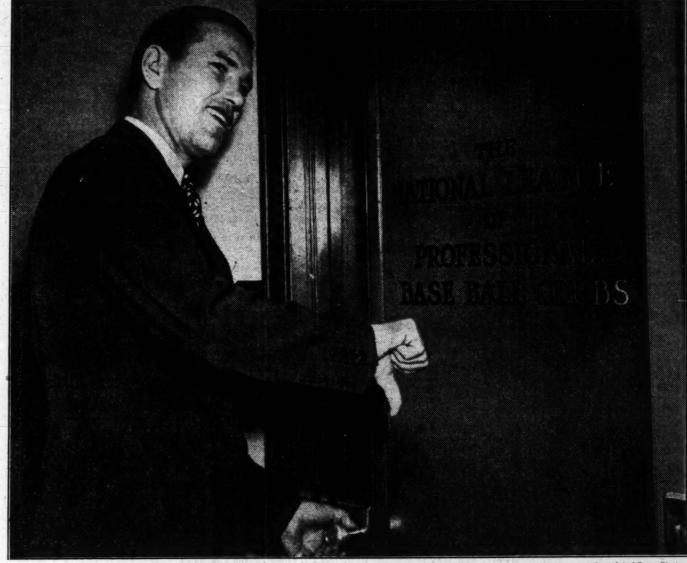

Frisch, making no commitment on this score, announced later that Dean would pitch against the Phillies tomorrow. It was Dean's regular turn this afternoon. Thus, actually, the pitcher's suspension actually, the pitcher's suspension has had only a one-day effect. However, it may upset plans for a return Dean-Hubbell duel at the Folo Grounds. The Giants scuthpaw ace, who pitched today against the Cubs, will be due to go to the box again next Tuesday but Dean would have to work out of turn if he is to oppose his screwball rival. screwball rival

Jerome Dean Turns Thumbs Down on National League

Dizzy Dean, loquacious St. Louis pitcher, yesterday turned thumbs down on the National league when called into President Ford Frick's office. Dean refused to sign a statement apologizing for remarks reflecting upon the integrity of the National league's officers and umpires he is alleged to have made. Finally, President Frick lifted the ban on the stormy Cardinal. It was considered a definite victory for the talkative pitcher.

new factor entered into the slight-ly scrambled heavyweight situa-tion late today when Promoter Mike Jacobs, of the Twentieth Century S. C., announced that Max Schmeling had agreed to meet the winner of the heavy-weight championship bout between James J. Braddock and Challenger Joe Louis in Chicago on June 22. Jacobs, in stating that the German ex-champion had consented to such a bout "if it can be arranged," added that he would seek to promote it, probably in September, with one of the New York ball parks as the likely site. Schmeling, who earlier in the day had announced his sudden decision to sail for home aboard the Hamburg at midnight tomorrow, may sign a contract to meet the Braddock-Louis winner before he leaves, Jacobs added.

Sports writers, who have grown up with the distinct impression that no one man is bigger than the game of baseball, have their doubts about it now. Almost to a man, they agreed that the National league through Frick's representation was thoroughly licked by a ball

Dizzy was given five separate statements, one of them pledging his allegiance to baseball, to sign. He didn't sign one of them. In fact, he all but threw them into Frick's face along with a screaming series of very uncomplimen-tary remarks. At the finish, before Manager Frank Frisch marched him out of the office, he stood before Frick and yelled:

TO THE COURTS. "See? I didn't sign nuthin,' I'll never sign nuthin' and I'm gonna take this case to Judge Landis, to the highest court in the land, and I'm gonna win!" Frick just sat there. Like the newspapermen, who usually de-light in a big show, he was worn to a frazzle and just about ready to sign anything, himself. But for the newspapermen, the

THIRD GAME TODAY.

The third game of the series will be played this afternoon at 3:30. Gordon Maltzberger, rookie right-hander, will hurl for the Crackers. Frank Petticolas is ex-pected to start for the Lookouts. There was some comedy in the second inning that wasn't planned. The jackrabbit which Joe Engel turned loose Thursday night came skipping out of its lair back of the signs in right and dashed around the outfield.

After watching the play for a brief time, the jackrabbit skipped back up the bank and out of sight. It may be that this rabbit will bring the Crackers plenty of will bring the Crackers plenty of luck during the remainder of the luck during the remainder of the CRACKERS SCORE FIRST.

The Crackers scored their first run of the game the easy way Luby hit one in front of the plate and took two bases on Early's wild throw to first. Luby went to third on a passed ball and scored on Hill's infield out. Chase reflected. perhaps, on man's inhumanity to man. He hadn't allowed a hit. The champions made it 2 to 0 in the second when they utilized two infield hits and two walks to score Mailho singled to deep short and took second on a wild pitch. Gal-vin walked. Chatham sacrificed Parker was intentionally passed filling the bases. Chase fanned Lindsey, but Luby hit to deep short and Mailhe scored. Blood-

Stars Themselves Among Most Persistent Autograph Seekers

Hollywood Today By HAROLD HEFFERMAN

NAME-SEEKING CHASE IN FILM CAPITAL IS SYS-TEMATIC.

HOLLYWOOD, June 4.-Volsonalities, those residing on the home grounds of the world's greatest movie factories become strangely afflicted with a fever that often reaches the maniacal urles, he made out a p case. But where is the will give him a hand?

The good Hollywood hunters never miss their prey because they hunt systematically. They know the habits of their quarry, almost as well as the stars themselves. Many have been making the daily and nightly rounds for years. Thoroughgoing name-grabbers scan the daily newspapers and trade publications, jotting down notes on previews, parties and public or private events of any nature where stars are likely to be drawn to the scene. A grapevine system of exchanging information seems to exist among them, because the same eager faces are invariably discovered on the sidelines of even the least important Hollywood gatherings.

precious books, sometimes as many as 75. If they want to trek down the trail to Los Angeles on the same night they can waylay a dozen or more male stars who habitually attend the Olympic boxing matches. The roller skating rinks make good hunting, now that a number of stars are going in for this sport.

Saturday night philharmonic concerts invariably draw Joan Crawford and Franchot Tone, toother music lovers from the studios. The polo matches on Sun-day afternoon find hundreds of fans clustered about the turnstiles with open books, while on any hunter may snag dozens of names big enough to make any book families of movie people flock to three or four leading restaurants to escape the possibly disastrous results of a home-cooked dinner by the lady of the house. A long queue of children, aged men and women, young and middle-aged folks, can always be found around the Brown Derby, Armstrong and Schroeder's or Eaton's Chicken House any Thursday night. Joan never scribbles her name into a blur, they say, but writes clear and distinctly, taking plenty of time with each one. And invariably the seeker gets a warm smile and a "you're welcome." Barbara Stanwyck is another headliner who has earned a similar reputation with the pack.

"Now then, what do you think" On the other hand, an impor-tant function of the respiration is to aid the circulation. This the breathing does by the process of natural breathing serves as a booster pump which helps to pull the blood back from the veins to the right side of the heart which what color the cornice? What color ceiling and walls? What color genated again. of the lungs, bellows, belly there is increased pressure within the abdomen and decreased pressure within the thorax or chest. In con-sequence of this, blood in the large veins in the abdomen is drawn into the large veins in the chest, onward toward the right side of the heart. The effect of this boost is not lost during expiration or deflation because valves in the veins prevent or impede backflow. The variations in pressure do not affect the blood in the arteries much if any, because the arteries are thick-walled and are constantly distended by the internal blood pressure, unlike the veins which are thin-walled and under comparatively low internal blood pres-

We have mentioned unhamper-ed natural breathing. That is belly breathing. Not chest breathing. Most people who have had only a comant of the physiology of life. Likewise most persons who have had only a college or high school education strive to hold in or draw up the belly and expand or thrust out the chest whenever they think of posture. This is unnatural. It is comical. It retards circulation, slows oxygenation of the

NEW YORK, Thursday.-My last appointment yesterday came after a rather hilarious dinner during which such members of the family as were present spent their time trying to shock me! Not good preparation for a serious talk, but Aubrey Williams and a number of the Youth Administration people who came to discuss the relative values of various phases of the National Youth Administration with me, were very serious. My admiration for those who work in this program is constantly going up and I was sorry I could only give them half an hour.

At midnight, Mrs. Scheider and I were on the train for New York. We got off as soon as we arrived this morning in order to have a chance to organize our day before we did a few errands, and left by the tube for Newark, N. J., where I was to give a lecture under the auspices of the Essex County Symphony So-duspices of the Essex County Symphony Society.

Just as we drew into the Park Street station in Newark, the storm which had been threatening for some time, broke in full force. Crowds stood around wondering whether to remain under shelter or to make for their street cars. One woman stopped to ask me to shake hands with her little boy. He was still so small that she carried him in her arms and I doubt was still so small that she carried him in her arms and I doubt if it made much difference to him with whom he shook hands.

if it made much difference to him with whom he shook hands.

However, since someone told me the other day that her child was sending us an invitation to her graduation because the grand-children would some day be interested, I have decided that even babies may desire to tell their grandchildren stories some day. It is probably better when they don't have any clear recollections, for then they can use their imagination and paint all kinds of pictures about the attributes of the presidents and their wives with whom they once were in contact.

Once upon a time I knew how long it would take from Thirtythird street, New York city, to Newark, but it is such a long time since I have taken that trip, that I allowed myself only half an hour when it took me nearly three-quarters of an hour. Just running from the station to a taxicab in the rain left us with large wet patches on our backs and well-sprinkled shoes and stockings, but we dried off in the taxicab and were kindly greeted on our ar-rival. Being half an hour late, I felt I deserved a reprimand.

The Essex County Symphony Society has really done an extraordinary piece of work. It was started only a year ago by a handful of people and today there were 300 at the luncheon, each of whom had sold 50 tickets for the four concerts which the society sponsors. They have such artists as Heifetz and John Charles course ticket is a dollar and a half, so each concert costs only 37 1-2 cents. The most interesting part of their undertaking seems to me to be the co-operation of all organizations interested in music, regardless of race, color or creed, and the fact that besides attending the concerts, the members are singing together. This should do much to remove the misunderstandings and apprehensions which so often grow up between different racial and religious groups in

One young newspaperwoman asked me if I was going to do anything more today that was "important." I told her that if she meant by that "official," I was not. I felt like telling her there is very little I do that seems to me important, but a great deal of it is pleasant. I am only glad the entire daily round is not what she would have termed important.

NEW YORK, June 4 .- (A)-Industrials and rails met brisk lastminute buying support in today's stock market after dawdling throughout the greater part of the Brokerage quarters attributed the right-about to several factors including the obvious one that selling had contracted sufficiently in the past several days to reduce volume to the smalles in the past two years. Traders, consequently, required little urging to switch to the recovery side, at least for a quick turn.

Partly inspiring the belated push, observers said, was the President's warning at his press conference in the morning "not to worry" over the gold situation recently has given Wall street several attacks of "nerves." In addition to this hint, the boardrooms heard unconfirmed rumors that three unnamed nations over the week-end would issue a joint statement announcing their intention to continue buying gold at around $35 an ounce.

At any rate, the list was spurred to a fair amount of activity on the upside in the final lap and transfers for the 5 hours totalled 779,190 shares compared with 549,300 yesterday. The Associated Press average of 60 stocks came back .8 of a point to 67.7.

Rails were enlivened by publication of last week's official freight loadings figures disclosing a more than seasonal increase to a new high for the year. Farm implements and mail orders responded to estimates the 1937 wheat crop will almost double the average for the past six years.

Others well in front were General Motors at 55 5-8, Santa Fe 84 1-2, Southern F cific 52 3-4, Great Northern 54, Electric Auto-Lite 40 1-8, Anaconda 54 1-2, Kennecott 58 7-8, Cerro De Pasco 68 1-4, Montgomery Ward 53 5-8, Loew's 81 5-8, Du Pont 157, Goodyear 39 3-4, United States Rubber 60, Republic Steel 35 1-2, National Steel 78 1-2, Marshall Field 25 1-2, Texas Corporation 59 3-4 and Continental Oil 44 1-2.

TRADE GROUP RULES ON BRUKERAGE FEED

WASHINGTON, June 4.—(AP)— The Federal Trade Commission attorneys issued today the first of-ficial interpretation of the brokerage fee regulation of the Robinson-Patman act.

They advised the commission in a brief, that the law, intended to eliminate certain types of price discriminations, prohibits "pay-ment of brokerage fees from sellers to buyers, directly or indirectly."

Under this interpretation, they said, the services performed by the Biddle Purchasing Company, of New York, for hundreds of companies, particularly food mer-chants, violates the act. Both the interpretation and the judgment of the Biddle plan will be reviewed

Market Outlook By MAX BUCKINGHAM.

(Copyright, 1937, by United Press.) NEW YORK, June 4.—(UP)— The stock market recorded gains

The market cannot yet be called in a rising trend. London still remains an acute problem. A total of slightly more than $21,000,000 was reassuring to American traders-possibly some short covering developing-but it remains feel the same assurances. Recent advices from the Treasury Department that no gold price change was impending had fallen flat on the nervous gold hoarders.

the nervous gold hoarders.

So long as this condition continues, nervousness is bound to be 17% + ½ felt in world security and finangle 23% - % the chief supports of the American the chief supports of the American market in the long rise last year and absence of financial dealings from there is one of the hindrances to a pick-up in local trading.

The domestic picture appeared encouraging. Talk of a billion dollar wheat crop this year is finding greater response in financial cir-cles. This accounted for late buy-ing in farm equipment issues and other shares of companies which will benefit by the improved farm spending power.

Labor news was disconcerting.
The steel strike is a detriment to bullish business views while outbreaks of fresh labor difficulties at the Chrysler and Packard plants emphasized the labor uncertainty that industries confront. Shares of steel and motor companies advanced today, however.

week ended May 28 rose to a new high for the year at 794,855 cars, compared with 799,276 in the prevous week and 646,812 in the corresponding 1936 week.

Investing Companies.

All Groups Except Utilities Are in Higher Levels at Close.

Daily Bond Averages. NEW YORK, June 4 .- (A)-The bond market moved upward on slightly increased activity today with demand spread evenly over most of the list." All groups except utilities were in higher levels at the close. The power and light company loans moved off a bit late in the day after earlier improvement.

Turnover for all bonds, the best for the week to date, totaled $8,-554,000, face value, compared with S7,275,000 Thursday.

In some quarters it was felt the treasury's partial disclosure of its June-quarter financing plans had lifted some of the uncertainties over-hanging the market. The most significant news on this op-eration, however, will be forth-coming Monday when the new federal notes are offered and their maturity and interest rate become known.

United States government loans again moved slowly with prices slightly uneven. Most changes were on the up side and gains ranged to 6-32 with the majority under 1-8 of a point. Setbacks ex-tended to 3-32 of a point. Central Railroad of New Jersey 5s jumped 45-8 points to 605-8.

This virtually completed a recovery from a recent decline by these nds. New York, Ontario & Western 4s added 2 points at 16 and other gainers were Denver & Rio Grange 4s and St. Paul 5s of 1975.

Brokers' Views

STOCK OPINIONS.
COURTS & CO.—Prime gains were quite impressive and warrant the expectation of a further rise on any reasonably good of a further rise on any reasonably good news.

BEER & CO.—From the longer term viewpoint we believe the list is in a broad buying area.

THOMSON & McKINNON—Ability of stocks to advance as they did Friday in the face of unrelieved labor troubles, gold fears abroad, and Washington uncertainties, of course was encouraging to those who have felt that going prices afford attractive opportunities for accumulation of the better quality equities.

FENNER & BEANE—Groups considered among most promising include the oils, the various equipments and the rubbers.

The stock market recorded gains ranging to as much as six points today after President Roosevelt announced there is no change impending in the gold price. Trading volume stepped up to 790,000 shares, compared with 550,000 shares yesterday.

The gold situation controlled the market and traders said it likely will remain a moot problem until the nervousness abroad has abated.

The market cannot yet be called

GRAIN OPINIONS.

COURTS & CO.—We believe when wheat moves in quantity, prices will be of slightly more than $21,000,000 in gold was dumped on the bullion market there today and fears were expressed that additional unloading might come tomorrow unless official sources intervene.

President Roosevelt's statement

BEER & CO.—We are still of the continues to suggest an oversold position and likelihood of a substantial rally on technical ground alone.

FENNER & BEANE—We think temporarily market is on more debatable ground, but would confine purchases to the setbacks.

steady, middling f. o. b., 13.70. AVERAGE PRICE.

NEW ORLEANS, June 4.—(A)— The average price of middling cotton at 10 southern spot markets today was 12.98 cents a pound. The average price for the past 30 days was 13.01 cents a pound.

NEW ORLEANS, June 4.—(R)
The cotton market was nervous today, but displayed moderate strength at recession and final prices were unchanged to 7 points lower. The closing tone was steady. Initial transactions were over 50 cents a bale net lower due to disappointing Liverpool advices and an accumulation of overnight selling orders. The decline markets over the Thursday holi-day her helped the easier tone.

Private advices of favorable weather and good crop prospects brought out some additional selling later in the morning and at lowest reached during the day active positions showed net declines of 13 to 14 points. The May position although inactive, declin-17 points on one sale. Most of this loss was recovered, however, and the option was 7 points net lower at the close.

July closed at 12.62 to 12.63, October at 12.66, December at 12.75, January at 12.78, March at 12.80 and May at 12.80. Spots were unchanged with middling at 13.04. Cloth and yarn markets continued in the doldrums and could contribute nothing to futures. The veather was ideal and weekly statistics were about as expected.

Port receipts 3,784, for week
29,460; for season 6,683,984. Exports 23,649; for week 54,990; for season 5,375.029. Port stocks 1,344,-801. Stocks on shipboard at New Orleans, Galveston and Houston 44,859; last year 50,079. Spot sales at southern markets 1,352; year 3,486.

NEW YORK COTTON SHOWS SLIGHT GAINS

NEW YORK, June 24 .- (R)-Early moderate declines in cotton today were turned into slight and price fixing promoted by a generally steady tone in other markets.

October rallied from 12.57 to 12.68 and closed at 12.67. Final prices were 1 to 2 points net

With Exception of Selected Specialties, Price Changes Are Limited.

NEW YORK, June 4.-With the exception of a selected group of industrial specialties, the curb market developed little in the way of a definite trend today. Niles-Bemont-Pond and Pep-perell staged sharp gains, the former running up four points to 52 and the latter jumping to 126 3-4, a gain of 6 3-4 points.

In general movements were confined from fractions to a point either way. Aluminum Company showed a gain of a point closing at 146 1-2. Newmont Mining rose a point and a fraction and United Gas, Technicolor, United Light and Power X "A" registered fractional betterment. The utility was mostly on the up side.

Among losers were Venezuela Petroleum, Sherwin - Williams Sunshine Mining and Celluloid to the extent of fractions to a point. Oils showed indications of sag-man just learning the trade is likely to print it all, to the hor-

"Great," his interviewers would say "O. K.," he'd say sadly, "I wish I could really say what I think about those smug boys."

And so, it goes. Maybe the Dizzy one was speaking off the record and ran into a young reporter who put it into print. It was hot stuff, so to speak, and it wrought some very nice headlines.

My inclination is to string along with reporters because the general policy is, when something sounds too strong in print, for the gentleman who said the words to insist he was conganizations with more than 48 print, for the gentleman who said the words to insist he was misquoted. There isn't much the reporter can do about it. Except to insist, as did this reporter in Belleville, Ill., that he printed what Dean said. Ole Diz must have been speaking off the record and the reporter must have been inexperiencd or cups will be presented tomorrow as part of the Alumni Day celedidn't understand or something. He may have been an innocent young man who thought he could print anything he heard. At young man who thought he could print anything he needs any rate, he isn't getting a fair hearing. SCHMELING'S PRIDE.

The Max Schmeling-Jimmy Braddock-Joe Louis story is in-

The New York boxing commission merely suspended Jim-Braddock. The Illinois branch did not concur.

Schmeling delivered himself of a very fine Phillipic against Braddock and his manager. He spoke of sportsmanship and ideals.

And then agreed to meet the winner of the Braddock-Louis fight. All of which again illustrates that ideals and sportsmanship have very little to do with the heavyweight championship arrangements. The title means about $1,000,000 to the lucky holder. And with that much money at stake the boys don't pay with 913, and Independents with 797. In the B division the total

If Braddock can beat Louis, which he may do, he will hardly win from Schmeling who has the style to worry Braddock. Braddock ought to be able to keep Louis off with a left hand. The Jersey Irishman is fairly well educated in ring lore.

Meanwhile, here in Atlanta, Frank Speer is well pleased that his Ben Brown-Ray Lyle fight drew more at the gate than did the phantom fight between Schmeling and Braddock at the Garden bowl.
